HISTORY

Recognizing the need for a skilled workforce in the future, the Professional-Technical Education Foundation was established in 1983 as a 501(c)(3) non-profit corporation, to support and provide educational opportunities for professional-technical education students in the State of Idaho. To supplement programs in public schools and technical colleges, the Foundation solicits, receives and administers scholarships, instructional equipment donations, and works to provide training opportunities for instructors to keep current with changing technologies.

Legislative Luncheon 2014

You are invited to meet Idaho's leaders at the 2014 Student Day at the Legislature luncheon sponsored by community leaders, like yourself, together with the State Division of Professional Technical Education, and the Idaho Professional Technical Education Foundation.

Why support and attend?

- Build your network as you meet and dine with Idaho Legislators.
- Learn what is happening in education to prepare future employees for your business.
- Find out how you can position yourself to have greater impact on the future of Professional Technical Education policy and performance.
- Enjoy an education update from our governor.
- Hear from one of Idaho's Anne Veseth Memorial Continuing Education Scholarship winners.

The Anne Veseth Memorial Continuing Education Scholarship

A luncheon highlight each year is recognizing the recipient of the Foundation's Anne Veseth Memorial Continuing Education Scholarship.

Named in honor of past scholarship recipient Anne Veseth, the scholarship provides $500 for a student who is continuing their professional-technical education at one of Idaho's technical colleges.

Ms. Veseth was the 2011 scholarship recipient and was studying to be an Automotive Technician at Lewis-Clark State College when she was killed while fighting forest fires on her summer break.

Foundation Mission
Stimulate and promote quality professional-technical education to fill the needs of Idaho's workforce.
